

We are looking to grow our brilliant in-house finance team here at Brands2Life by hiring an Financial Analyst. This is a newly created role and will be based in locally Skopje, but will require someone to work independently and as a fully-integrated member of our UK finance team.

Brands2Life is a 180+ people, integrated communications agency based in London. We have a fantastic team and a very competitive client base spanning some of the best-known brands in technology, professional services and consumer markets.

Working alongside an experienced team of finance professionals, you will be responsible for:

- Preparing monthly financial dashboards, servicing reports and other reporting data at month end (e.g. staff cost v gross income, staff utilisation)
- Reviewing and querying weekly timesheet data
- Preparing and updating the weekly financial model
- Preparing the monthly deferred cash report
- Preparing the monthly deferred income report, as well as ad-hoc updates throughout the month if required by the Revenue Manager
- Preparing monthly bonus framework reports
- Preparing monthly pitch costs reports
- Preparing and reviewing any other data and reporting as required by the agency to support business growth.

The role will report directly in the Financial Controller, based in the UK, and be required to work closely with the wider finance team, including, Revenue Manager, CFO and COO, as well as the wider agency where applicable.

The ideal candidate will have good written and oral English, confidence in speaking to staff internally at all levels, as well as occasionally with clients, and experience using Paprika (or a similar system) in a fast-moving agency/service industry environment. A good knowledge of excel is also an important requirement.

This is a great opportunity for someone who is looking for an exciting new position and being at the forefront of our support function expansion.
